Greek navy, with the exception of the battleships Leonas and Kilkis and the armored cruiser Averoff, together with the two forts commanding the regular anchorage of the warships of the allies, have been surrendered by Greece to Vice Admiral Dartige du Fournet, Commander in Chief of the Entente Allies' fleet in the Mediterranean.

The guns of the Leonas, Kilkis and Averoff have been removed and the vessels dismantled so they cannot fight.

All Greek fortifications along the entire coast are being dismantled so they cannot interfere with warship movements.

The Piraeus-Larissa Railway has been handed over to allied troops.

Admiral du Fournet gave the Greek government until one o'clock Wednesday afternoon to comply with his demands and stated that failure to do so would result in his taking the necessary steps himself.

The new Greek provisional government, headed by ex-Premier Venizelos and favoring Greek's entrance into the war, began taking shape at about the same hour that French naval authorities took over the ships of the Greek navy.

General Zimkrakis, a warm supporter of the Allied cause, was sworn in as War Minister. The ceremony

Concerning operations in Greek Macedonia the British official statement issued this afternoon says:

"Struma Front.—A mounted brigade in clearing the country up to the outskirts of Seres found the town strongly held by the enemy.

"Doiran Front.—Further raids on enemy trenches were carried out on Tuesday night. Two advanced posts were driven in and some Bulgarian and German prisoners were taken."

The Exchange Telegraph Company's Athens correspondent quotes former Premier Venizelos as declaring in a speech at Salonica that he had placed himself at the head of a movement which was bound to succeed.

"The islands have all adhered to the movement and are prepared to accept the mobilization which will be declared shortly," said M. Venizelos.

"The constitution must be reversed, even if we have to march without Athena and old Greece. We intend to march against Ferdinand and his treacherous troops."

Paris Asserts That Aside From Artillery Activity There Was Quiet on Somme.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—Six strong Allied attacks on the front between Morval and Bouchavesnes, north of the Somme, continued until early this morning, were completely repulsed, it was officially announced this afternoon.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—Except for artillery activity in the region of the Somme and in the Woevre, last night was comparatively quiet on the French front. The text of the statement issued this afternoon by the French War Department says:

"South of the Somme and in the Woevre there was reciprocal artillery activity. On the rest of the front the night passed comparatively quiet.

"One of our air squadrons last night bombed the railway station at Vignoulles with observable results."

EXPLOITS OF U-53 HIGHLY PRAISED IN THE REICHSTAG

Committee, Unable to Agree on Submarine Warfare, Recommends No Discussion.

BERLIN, Oct. 12 (via London).— The most notable incident at the opening of the Reichstag session was supplied by Major Ernst Bassermann, leader of the National Liberals, in his report from the Budget Committee that, although it had been unable to reach a decision on the submarine question, it had voted, 24 to 4, against a discussion of the subject in open session.

Major Bassermann, while avoiding a discussion of the submarine issue in his remarks, injected a tribute to Admiral von Tirpitz and the achievements of the submarine U-53.

Herr Bassermann faced a full house when he rose to deliver the report, virtually every deputy being in his seat at the opening, while the galleries were jammed. Dr. von Beth-mann-Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor, with Foreign Minister von Jagow, Secretary Helfferich of the Imperial Treasury and the other Ministers, their aides and subordinates, filled the ministerial benches to the right of the President.

Herr Bassermann ran through a short report of the general international situation, emphasizing particularly the Entente's pressure on neutral powers and its efforts to force Greece into the war, in connection with which he expressed admiration for the attitude of King Constantine. He then read the text of the committee's recommendations against open discussion of the submarine issue.

"The committee occupied itself with a thorough discussion of the question of the submarine warfare," the report read, "the members of all parties and the representatives of the Government participating. All the naval, technical, military, economic and political aspects were thoroughly investigated and weighed. The deliberations were conducted under the impression of the high importance of the question, strictly upon the merits of the case and with a general desire to serve the interests of the Fatherland."

"An agreement could not be reached in the committee, which therefore refrained from making a decision. The committee recommends that the Reichstag in its deliberations abstain from a discussion of submarine warfare. It bases this attitude upon the standpoint that a thorough discussion of the naval, technical, military, economic and political details is impossible without injury to the interests of the Fatherland; but, on the other hand, that without such thorough discussion the subject could not be completely cleared up."

Dr. Peter Spahn, the leader of the Catholic Center Party, followed Herr Bassermann, but his speech was largely inaudible to the gallery. He was understood to say that he left to the Imperial Chancellor the decision on the propriety of making at some future time further announcements regarding submarine warfare. Germany's attitude toward other countries, particularly America, which were extensively discussed in committee, must be based, said Dr.
Spahn, not upon sympathies or antipathies, but upon Germany's own interests.

Philipp Scheidemann, Socialist, embarked upon a vigorous denunciation of the elements hostile to Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, which for months, he declared, had shrunk from no methods, however base, to overthrow the Chancellor and prevent the reforms which he had promised.

HOLLAND CALLS ON BERLIN TO EXPLAIN RAID OF THE U-53

Minister of Foreign Affairs Says Sinking of Bloemerdijk
Was Unjustifiable.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 12 (via London).—"I cannot believe the sinking of the Bloemerdijk will be upheld by the German Government," said Minister of Foreign Affairs Louden to a representative of the Associated Press this afternoon.

Minister Louden was just about to despatch a note to Berlin which in the customary diplomatic terms asked for an explanation for the sinking of this grain ship off the New England coast during the German submarine operations of last Sunday. He said he could not explain the act other than that it was committed in a misinterpretation of orders by a hot-headed submarine commander (flagrant examples of such action having occurred before) who, having ascertained that the cargo was grain and that the ship would touch at Kirkwall, had sent her to the bottom without heeding the fact that the grain was consigned to the Dutch Government.

"If Admiral von Tirpitz had been at the head of affairs in Germany it would be understandable," added the Foreign Minister, "but I do not believe it of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, and I fully expect—I am sure—that Germany will disavow the act of her commander and tender reparation for this absolutely unjustifiable act."

Regarding the problem of belligerent submarines in neutral ports, Minister Louden expressed a keen appreciation of the difficulties confronting the United States, whereas by good fortune Holland had escaped them, her position having been made perfectly clear from the beginning through her proclamation of August, 1914, prohibiting access to Dutch ports or waters to "belligerent warships or vessels acting because of damage and also excepting the Dutch colonies, where the twenty-four-hour rule prevails."

As regards closer diplomatic engagement between Holland and other neutrals there seems reason to believe that it would be welcome here, although it is realized that the different interests of the various nations would present a question of the most complicated character.

Indoor Life Makes Fat
TRY OIL OF KOREIN TO KEEP
WEIGHT DOWN, OR TO RE-DUCE SUPERFLUOUS
FAT.

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precaution to ward against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise in the fresh air is said to weaken the oxygen carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of an unhealthy and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any person who are satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout are advised to go to a good druggist and get a box of oil of Korein capsules, and take one after each meal and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight. Improved digestion and a return of the old energy; footstep become lighter and the skin less flabby in appearance as superfluous fat disappears.

Oil of Korein is inexpensive, cannot injure, and helps the digestion. Any person who wants to reduce 15 or 20 pounds is advised to give this treatment a trial.

Teuton troops are pursuing the Roumanian forces on the whole of Eastern Transylvania front, says the official statement issued to-day by the German army headquarters staff.

The second Roumanian army, the announcement adds, has been driven back into the frontier positions.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 12 (via London).—Three German gas attacks launched against the Russian positions in front of the Uskull Bridge fortifications on Oct. 8 were unsuccessful, says the Russian official statement reporting operations on the western Russian front. The defenders maintained their positions by machine gun and artillery fire and destroyed the gas apparatus.

A bridge erected by the Germans over the River Balduka in the region of Belauca village was destroyed by Russian artillery.
